

Kevin Vu

Junior university student
& student journalist

About Me

My name is Kevin Vu and I am a Houston-born Vietnamese American with a drive to tell the stories of those who don't have the opportunity to share their voices. Since my first year in college, I have had a love for reporting and interviewing, and hope to continue pursuing different journalism experiences and a professional career.

Skills

- Years of experience in reporting and interviewing in journalism
- Years of experience in editing stories and content
- Social media
- Public speaking

Education

2020-
Cum Laude
2024

The University of Texas
at Austin

Pursuing Bachelor degree
in Journalism

Experiences

Science Communications Intern

Mar. 2020
Cum Laude
- Present

College of Natural
Science at UT Austin

Working within the College of Natural Science at UT, I helped produce stories and content about research that was recently published or currently being worked on, feature stories, and covered different events at the college.

Vice President & Social Media Officer

Jan. 2022
Cum Laude
- Present

Asian American Journalists
Association at UT Austin

An organization at UT that brings Asian Americans interested in journalism and form a community and family that isn't often found in the field of journalism. As a social media officer, I mainly focus on posting content and announcements for different events.

Senior Reporter and News Desk Editor

The Daily. Texan

Oct.
2020 -
Present

Working at one of the biggest student-run college newspapers in the United States, as a news reporter, I wrote news stories surrounding UT Austin, working almost every day to produce different stories from breaking news, research, COVID-19, and more. As a news desk editor, I worked with reporters and helped them out with their stories if they are having trouble with them, and eventually edited them.